ONLINE SMALL-GROUP CAMP · AGES 5–13

Speak Up Camp

Four live online sessions over two weekends, then a full one-to-one mock interview with a written report. Children practise with peers their own age, and parents find out what international schools are really looking for — before the real interview.

INCLUDED WITH EVERY PLACE

A full 1:1 mock interview, worth RM500

Run the way a school would, by someone who has worked inside international school admissions. Your child gets the practice; you get a written report saying what went well, what to work on, and whether they are ready to apply.

The four sessions

SESSION 1

First impressions & talking about yourself

Greeting an interviewer, speaking with confidence, and answering the question every school asks: tell me about yourself.

SESSION 2

Listening, thinking aloud, active responding

Following instructions, describing a picture, and answering "what would you do if..." without freezing.

SESSION 3

Entry assessment practice

Reading aloud, a short written or drawing task by age, and explaining simple maths and reasoning in English.

SESSION 4

Group task & full mock interview

A small collaborative task, then a full mock interview while the others practise being a good audience.

Who it is for

Children applying to an international school in the next twelve months, whose family would rather they walked in prepared than hoped for the best.

Children whose English is fine at home but wobbles in front of a stranger. Admissions interviews reward confidence and listening far more than vocabulary.

Families still overseas. The camp runs live online, so children in China, Korea, Hong Kong or anywhere else can join before the move.
